$100,000 POST OFFICE AND ARMORIES FOR RED DEER

Government to Erect Creditable Headquarters for 35th Central Alberta Horse This Year

Last Saturday morning W. J. Botterill received a telegram from Edward Michener, M.P.P., who was at Ottawa, which contained an announcement of the first importance to our city. It was to the effect that the plans for a new post office building were accepted in their entirety, that is, with all improvements suggested, which will mean a building costing about one hundred thousand dollars; and also that a creditable regimental armory would be built for the 35th Central Alberta Horse at Red Deer this year. The action of the government at Ottawa is a recognition of the place Red Deer has already won among the cities of Alberta, and makes the city the centre of an extended area in a very important phase of our national life—the military.

Mr. Michener and Capt. J. C. Moore have been working together to this end for some time past. Last Thursday Capt. Moore appeared before the City Council and had an easy task to perform in persuading the Council to pass a resolution granting a free site for armories on the city square, the only proviso being that the structure should be such as would fit in appropriately with the civic centre scheme. That same night the contents of the Council's resolution were telegraphed to Mr. Michener, and on Saturday morning the good news of the Government's decision was known in Red Deer. The citizens ought to feel very much gratified that their representatives in Legislature and Council are quick to realise the advantage of seizing such opportunities, and are capable of combined, harmonious action which gets results.

The exact plans of the building are not yet known, but it is safe to say that it will be a credit to the government and an ornament to the city. Its erection during this year will mean the expenditure of a considerable sum of money and the employment of a good deal of labor in the city, which of themselves are objects to be desired in the present financial depression; and when completed, outside of the military significance of the building, it will be of advantage to the public in general, as probably being available on proper occasions for public gatherings requiring larger accommodation than any building in the city now affords.

The military significance of the armory naturally constitutes its chief importance, and a brief history of the militia in Red Deer will show the rapid development which has taken place. About six or seven years ago Red Deer first sent a troop (about sixteen men) to camp at Calgary as part of the 15th Light Horse. In 1910 an Independent Squadron (four troops or seventy-four men in all) was authorized at Pine Lake, and last year, 1912, both of these squadrons went to camp very nearly full strength. Early in this year a new squadron was organized at Metaskiwini, and at the same time the three squadrons were constituted a new regiment of cavalry under the name of the 35th Central Alberta Horse, with headquarters at Red Deer, and the squadrons are designated "A," "B" and "C" in the order in which they are mentioned above.

The development outlined above appears very satisfactory on the surface, but the truth is that Red Deer will have to do better in a military way in the future than it has in the past if it wishes to justify its designation as regimental headquarters. In 1911 only one troop of seventeen men went to camp from the Red Deer and Pine Lake squadrons combined, and last year the Red Deer squadron drew largely on Alix and even as far afield as Coronation.

This year the authorized strength of the squadron has been increased from 74 to 98, which will make it probably the largest squadron in the Calgary camp, if fully enlisted. The Coronation troops have been dropped, Alix will furnish perhaps 35 or 40 men, and Red Deer will have to supply about 60 men and horses or fail to "make good." The officers of the squadron are now on the go to camp at Calgary, which will be held this year from the 17th to the 28th of June. The pay ranges from 75 cents to $1.25 per day, with an additional allowance of $1.25 per day for each horse, and everything found. The officers, we understand, complain of a lack of interest among the young men, who are admirably fitted to undergo military training, and who ought to consider the opportunity of going to camp not only as a duty to their country, but as a privilege; and the training of a soldier has an educational value which makes it well worth a young man's while. There is the further complaint also that the employees of young men in the city are very loath to let them away from their "jobs" in order to go to camp. They are not sufficiently patriotic to put up with a little inconvenience for the necessary twelve days' absence of the man, or to take the trouble of making other temporary arrangements, in order to let the young man have the opportunity of learning something that may some day stand him and his country, his employer included, in good stead, should we happen upon strenuous times in defence of the Dominion or Empire. The employer or parent who encourages a young man to go to camp will in nine cases out of ten find him more efficient upon his return.

It is to be hoped that this year employers, parents and young men will all realize that the credit of the city and district is at stake, and will co-operate to justify the confidence which the Government has placed in our loyalty, our manliness, and our ability to "deliver the goods." There is no part of Canada better able to raise and support an efficient squadron of cavalry than the Red Deer district. We have plenty of young men of splendid physique and lots of horses well adapted to the work.

At present the squadron is being re-organized by Capt. Moore, who succeeded to the command of the squadron upon the resignation of Major H. L. Gaetz, and now is the time to select (for a period of three years) in order to obtain seniority and get in line for appointments as non-commissioned officers. When the new armories are finished, they will afford the members of the squadron many facilities for healthy exercise and amusement denied the outsider, for example, a miniature rifle range will form part of the equipment, and all through the year facilities will be given for such sports as fencing, boxing, wrestling and other military exercises, and no doubt contests of various sorts will be held with the other squadrons of the regiment, and entertainments given in the way of assaults-at-arms. In order to make the Red Deer "A" Squadron what it ought to be, and to vindicate the choice of this city as regimental headquarters, it is hoped that all classes of residents of the district who can assist will co-operate to the fullest extent.

At present the squadron is using the curling rink as armories, and drills will be held every Wednesday and Friday evenings from now till camp. The orders each week will be published in the local papers. Any man desiring to enlist, can apply to any of the officers, Capt. J. C. Moore, Lieut. L. F. Page and Lieut. F. L. Brown.

MARRIED.

C.P.R. Co'y Will Beautify Station Grounds

Freight Will Be Unloaded Further South.

Commissioner McKeown was informed in an interview with Superintendent W. B. Uren, of the C.P.R., Monday afternoon, that the grounds of the C.P.R., north of the station, will be beautified with flower beds and ornamental shrubs. Mr. Uren was very greatly interested in the suggestions of the Commissioner, and promised to do all in his power to help along the idea. Another good suggestion which will be carried out was that of unloading freight from cars south of the freight sheds, where there is a long spur track, instead of north of the station, as at the present time. The number of teams unloading freight near the station is unhealthily at times, and there is far more room further south for unloading cars without being disturbed. This will add greatly to the attraction of the station grounds, and will all help out the idea of beautifying the city in the neighborhood of the station.

BUSY SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

Question of Armory for Red Deer Discussed.

CHIEF BELL ASKED TO RESIGN

Western General Plant Purchase Discussed

The City Council, Thursday night, put in a strenuous session, adjourning at midnight. All the members, except Alderman Murrin, were present, and with His Worship Mayor Galt in the chair.

Capt. J. Carlyle Moore, of the 35th Central Alberta Horse, was a deputation to the Council on the matter of an armory for Red Deer. After speaking of the able men who he thought would occupy responsible positions as officials in the regiment, notably Rev. C. W. G. Moore as Chaplain, J. Oliver as Regimental Sergeant-Major, and J. McEwan as a Veterinary, he proceeded to ask the Council that, providing the Government would put up a suitable building that would be a credit to the city, would the Council be favorable to the building being placed upon a part of the City Square. He thought the building could also be used as an assembly hall and for other approved uses. Mr. Michener was at the present time in Ottawa, and he wished to wire him on the matter, as Mr. Michener had promised to take the matter up with the Minister of Militia. The City had already promised to give two lots for the use of an armory, but he certainly thought that a position on the City Square would be preferable. He thought it would be a fine thing for all concerned, and that, as armories usually provided a magnificent range, it would be an incentive for the young fellows to join.

Moved by Alderman Bottrell and Lord—That the Council thank Capt. Moore for his interest in getting the regimental armories of the 35th Central Alberta Horse at Red Deer, and that it assure him that the Council is favorable to giving a site for the armory on the City Square for a building such as will be approved by the Council as suitable to the proposed civic scheme. Carried.

CORRESPONDENCE.
The John Galt Engineering Co. wrote thanking the Council for the information regarding financing water and sewer connection. Filed.
The John Galt Engineering Co. wrote asking assistance in drawing up a building restriction by-law. Filed.
The Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, Edmonton, wrote enclosing copies of the full text of amendments to the Town Act at the last session of the Legislature. Filed.
The Oversea Holdings, Limited, London, Eng., wrote as to being in a position to place Canadian city loans on the English market. Filed.
A letter was read from Francis Hankin & Co. of Montreal, referring to filtration plant. Filed.
Seymour & Dawe wrote the Council in respect to a request from Messrs. Hawthorne and Shelding for a crossing to be placed over the sidewalk and boulevard to serve lots 5, 6 and 7 on the east side of 4th Avenue East.

Referred to Commissioners to explain and report back.
The City Clerk said he had received eight applications for position of Chief of Police. Filed.
The City Clerk also received a number of letters asking for information respecting the City coat of arms. Filed.

Seymour & Dawe, City Engineers, asked the Council to appoint an inspector over the cement sidewalks that are being laid down, and begged to mention the names of How and Harvey for the position. After considerable discussion, it was left to the Commissioners to look into the matter and report again to the Council, as Wm. Piper's name had been introduced by a member for the position.

MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER.
The Medical Health Officer's monthly report suggested that the City communicate with the Provincial Health Department, and endeavor to urge them to legislate to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. At present the reports require a report of all cases, but nothing is done to prevent the spreading of it. Cooperation with other towns and cities might do a great deal in this matter.

COMMISSIONERS' REPORT.
The Commissioners brought in the following report:
Engineer Dawe reports that the sidewalk contractors purpose repairing all defective walks, gutters, gutters and retaining walls laid repair year. Also that he found it advisable to lower the grade on Waskasoo Ave., and that the grading on West Main Ave. is about completed, and work will be commenced laying this walk at once and grading continued on Gaetz Ave. South so that this walk can be laid with the right of way.

We recommended that the walk on the West side of Waskasoo Ave. be laid from 5th St. N. to 2nd St. N. only, see also the right of way to 2nd St. N., Devon Estate, overlooking show ground. Cheapest close-in of anything for sale.

street can be properly graded and drained. Catch basins to be laid to drain the water from the street into the creek at the South end of the street and an open outlet can carry the water to the creek from the North end of the street until sewers are laid in this district.

The East part of the cemetery has been ploughed and levelled and roots removed ready for laying out, and cemetery lots in the old part levelled and dug ready for seeding.

Engineer Dawe reported that the sidewalk contractor would lay cement walks across the boulevards to entrances of property for 166 per square foot. We agreed to pay this price and authorized Mr. Dawe to instruct him to commence work on this at once, as Mr. Halstead wishes to seed the boulevards and set out trees on them.

The screen for the filter wells is being put in one of the wells. We have arranged to get a supply of cinders for the filters from the C.P.R.

On account of the river lowering rapidly, it was found necessary by the Engineer to lower the suction pipe. This is being done at present, and we hope before high water comes that this work will be completed and the filters completed.

The material is on the ground for reconstructing the bridge approach, and this work will be done as soon as possible.

On April 29th Mr. Greene informed us that J. McEwan had appealed his conviction for cruelty to animals and that the case was coming up before Judge Lees that day. We had not received notice of this appeal, and we authorized Mr. Greene to appear for the City in the case. The appeal was dismissed.

We instructed the Financial Post to carry an advertisement of the debentures we have for sale, and have had particulars printed and mailed to the bond buying firms. We have also asked for quotations for printing debenture forms from engraving firms.

We have received authority from the Provincial Medical Health Officer for our Health Inspector to act outside the City limits in sanitary matters, and he has been instructed to attend to any cases of infection of Health rules occurring near the City limits.

We recommend that we be authorized to have a guard rail built on the walk on Gaetz Ave. North, opposite St. Luke's Church, as the walk is high enough above the lot level to be dangerous. The Engineer estimates the cost of this at $30.00.

On February 13th, 1913, Chief of Police Bell was given the following written notice:
Red Deer, February 13, 1913
GEO. BELL, Chief of Police,
Red Deer.

Dear Sir—I am directed by His Worship the Mayor to inform you that in future any member of the Police force found to have drunk any liquor when on duty will be immediately suspended from his position. Kindly take note of this, yourself, and notify the members of your force.

On May 1st, in a police court case, Chief Bell in his evidence on the witness stand admitted that he had drank liquor in a bar while on duty. While regretting that such a step was necessary, we deemed it our duty to suspend him for this direct violation of orders.

The assessment for 1913 has been completed and notices sent out. The figures are as follows:
CITY.
Gross Assessment, Land, $5,055,085; Improvements, $1,121,050; Personal, $2,830,000. Less Exemptions: Land, $594,200; Improvements, $152,000; Net Assessment: Land, $4,460,885; Improvements, $969,050; Personal, $2,856,000.

SCHOOL DISTRICT (Land Only).
Gross Assessment, $8,245,725; Less Exemptions, $619,500; Net Assessment, $7,626,225.

Regarding other police matters that arose from the recent case, we recommend that we be allowed to present a report later on, as some little time is required in order to decide on further action if such be necessary.

We have ordered 50 sets of extension valve box castings from the Alberta Iron Works at $1.25 per set, provided they can supply them at this price.

Man of Sorrows Would End His Life

San Francisco, May 5.—Math Schapler says he is a man of many sorrows, including a small chicken ranch and an expired life insurance policy. He decided to end them, and drank a mixture of red paint and poison. "That only made him sick," he said, "and he vomited the right way. That made him angry, so he waded out into the ocean to cool his wrath. The life savers brought him in and took him to an emergency hospital.

"Everybody's doing it, millionaires, doctors and preachers, and I thought I would have a try," he explained to the nurses.

"You don't know my troubles. My chickens have the pip, my dog was shot the other day by a cop. I haven't enough money to renew my life insurance, and I don't like the minister out where I live. Then I have had ill of the body and of the soul and even of the heart."

He will probably recover.

Moved by Alderman Carswell and Smith—That the question of the appointment of an inspector of concrete sidewalks be referred to the commissioners to report on the qualifications of the two gentlemen referred to, Messrs. Wm. Piper and Howard Smith, to the City Council, if such an appointment. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Bottrell and Lord—That the Commissioners be authorized to bring in an early report on the matter of allowing crossings over the cement sidewalks to private property. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Carswell and Smith—That the request of Capt. Redman, of the Salvation Army, for permission to raise a tent on Mr. Michener's property, 1st St. South, to be used for religious purposes, be granted, subject to the pleasure of the Council. Carried.

BY-LAWS.

The following by-laws were read a first and second time, and the Commissioners authorized to publish same in the papers.

By-law No. 322, to raise the sum of $1,000 for fixing up the grounds in Gaetz, Woodlee and Waskasoo Parks.

By-law No. 323, to raise the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of paying the City share of the costs of constructing cement sidewalks.

By-law No. 324, to raise the sum of $8,000 for the grading, graveling and general improvements of the City streets.

WESTERN GENERAL PURCHASE.
Some discussion took place in reference to the purchase of the Western General Electric Company's plant by the City.

The opinion expressed was to the effect that the Company were willing to sell the lowest price being two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

It was understood the Company would take the debentures in case of a purchase going through.

The Council was of the opinion that the franchise should be owned by the city, and a further move no doubt be made to complete arrangements with the end in view of settling the question in the voice of the ratepayers in the near future.

Council adjourned at 12.15 o'clock.

A Perfect Separator Oiling System

In a machine which is operated at the speed required for a cream separator, perfect oiling is very necessary.

The new system of De Laval automatic oiling provides for a constant and liberal supply of OIL to every wearing surface of the machine at all times. There are no oil holes to fill up with dirt or perhaps to be neglected altogether, and every part is supplied with clean oil from the oil reservoir automatically and constantly.

In other, so-called, automatic oiling systems some of the parts have to be oiled by hand and no provision is made for getting rid of dirt that may get into the oil from the outside or of small particles of metal which come from wear, so that after a short time the oil supply becomes foul and injurious to the finely adjusted wearing parts.

DE LAVAL

Cream Separators

Have the only automatic oiling system which provides for a constant supply of fresh oil, and at the same time, the constant discharge of the used oil together with all worn metal particles or dirt which may have gotten into the used oil.

The perfect system of De Laval lubrication means an easier running and a much longer wearing machine. Come in and let us explain the advantages of De Laval automatic oiling.

Excellent Papers by Mrs. F. H. Tallman

AT WOMEN'S INSTITUTE MEETING

DISPOSAL OF WASTE.

The following splendid and timely paper, by Mrs. F. H. Tallman, was the gist of an address given by her at the last meeting of the Women's Institute:

"When we reflect that the germs of our most dreaded and fatal diseases are bred in waste and filth, the importance of destroying such refuse matter as quickly as possible, is realized."

We will concern ourselves for the time to the manner of getting rid of the waste from the house, particularly from the cellar, pantry and kitchen.

If there is danger lurking in any room of the house, it is in the cellar; so keep a watchful eye on the vegetable cellar and have the vegetables picked over from time to time, and any that have begun to rot, carried out to the garbage pile or buried. Leaves from cabbage heads, celery-tops and other vegetable stuff not wanted should carefully be removed before they begin to spoil.

Decaying vegetable matter of any kind is the favorite breeding ground of the germs of typhoid fever, diphtheria and other contagious filth disease, and decay is much assisted by dampness. Hence, unless the cellar is perfectly dry, clean and free from rotten vegetables, those who are responsible for its condition cannot, in case of sickness, have a clear conscience. An outbreak of typhoid, diphtheria, which caused the death of five children in one family, was traced by a physician directly to some decayed vegetable matter on the cellar floor.

Turn all papers and dust which may have accumulated; and, by the way, let me impress you with the fact that the best way to get rid of anything that has become useless and degenerated into waste is to burn it. This is by all odds the most sanitary way of disposing of refuse matter. Even potato parings can be burned if dried by spreading them out on paper for about two days. Anything that cannot be burned should be buried or taken to the garbage ground which must, for safety, be at least a quarter of a mile from a family residence.

The attic, storerooms and closets are the places where very often many things, which may rightly be termed waste, have found their way.

Look over their contents, and when you have put aside all that is useful, harden your heart and burn everything that you see no probability of need in the near future. Do not hand away garments to serve as haunts for moths and roaches for dust. Give any that are discarded by the family, but are still in good condition, to someone who can make use of them; and the garments which are to be put away for summer should be wrapped in newspapers and put in moth-proof bags or boxes. Save all the old linen, muslin, cotton and flannel, for you will find many uses for each of these fabrics. Sort them, putting each kind in a bag by itself, and hang the bags in a place where they may be easily reached when their contents are needed, e.g., peep the bag containing the old flannel in the kitchen or somewhere easily reached.

If you will find it much more satisfactory to wipe the range off with a cloth than to sweep the dust off, and thus set it circulating in the air, you may be easily reached when their contents are needed, e.g., peep the bag containing the old flannel in the kitchen or somewhere easily reached.

When the dishes are brought from the dining-room, scrape the plates on a newspaper laid in a pan, and if you have no chickens or your neighbor has none, burn the paper and contents.

Burn all bones which are not fit to put in the stock pot. Wipe greasy plates and pans with newspaper and throw the paper into the range. You will save greasy rags and greasy cloths. Anything that you cannot possibly burn, put into a garbage can with a tight-fitting cover. Before putting anything in the can put a newspaper inside and this will make it much easier to clean the can when it is emptied, for this must be done three times a week, and care must be used that the can is thoroughly cleaned and disinfected each time it is emptied.

When cleaning the carpet-sweeper, empty the can or put rubbish where it belongs, and keep the newspaper carefully around the dust and put it into the range.

Keep the back and raked and swept well taking care to have no rubbish or decaying matter of any kind to breed fly disease and disaster for your family.

If you have no sewer connection, and have to empty dishwater outside, scatter it broadcast over the ground so that it will evaporate. Do not pour it into a stagnant water in your back yard to breed disease.

And be most careful not to empty the can or put rubbish where it could possibly soak into the well. There is great danger of the contamination of drinking water. The member for St. Kitts said on the floor of the Dominion House, the other day, that the percentage of cases of typhoid fever per thousand was greater in Canada than in any other country in the world, and that it was due to the pollution of rivers by dumping sewage into them.

In the Spanish-American war there was an epidemic of typhoid fever in which 21 per cent. of the soldiers were affected. The cause was traced to contaminated water, and the disease was aggravated by flies carrying infection from the sick to the well.

As a proof that contaminated water is the direct or indirect source of typhoid fever, it may be mentioned that the statistics of ten large European cities, whose water supply is drawn from pure mountain lakes and streams, showed a death rate very much lower than that of a large number of American cities.

Therefore, we must not be content with disposing of our waste, but we must also take precaution lest by carelessness we imperil our own or our fellow-citizens' health and perhaps life, as well.

HOUSE FLIES AND DISEASE.

You may escape if you are careful, the diseases which trouble your neighbors, and you may be healthy if you are watchful, even where your community suffers; but you may breed on your own premises enemies which will carry the germs of disease, and accomplish the ruin of your family.

Foremost among these domestic foes are the fly and the mosquito, and the most dangerous foe of man, whose dangerous presence has only been appreciated in recent years. Of old it was supposed by most people that the fly and mosquito were troublesome pests, and no more.

But science has demonstrated in recent years that these insects are among the most dangerous foes of good health, and act as carriers of disease from which we suffer severely. Every year, the mosquito, for example, has been found to carry the germs of malaria, and of that fearful scourge of the southern climes, yellow fever.

The common house fly has been denounced as "the deadliest animal alive" and at his door has been laid an alarming amount of sickness.

Although the verification of the belief that the commonest, most widely distributed and truly domestic of insects, Musca domestica Lin., was capable of carrying the germs of certain infectious diseases, has been one of the noteworthy accomplishments of medical science in the last decade, it is a mistake to attach all the credit to those who, within the last few years, have removed the idea from the realm of hypothesis into the world of facts.

Prof. Wm. A. R. B. called attention to the fact in 1910 that we are only now putting to the test the theory of Kircher, propounded and published in Rome in 1658 that flies play an important part in the transmission of disease. He wrote as follows: "There can be no doubt that flies feed on the internal secretions of the diseased and during the flying away, they deposit their secretions on the food in neighboring dwellings, and persons who eat it are thus infected."

It is said also that a celebrated Italian physician, by name Mercurialis, who lived from 1530 to 1607, held the same theory.

In the seventeenth century Sydenham associated unhealthy conditions with flies. Lord Avebury, in 1871, regarded flies as "winged spies spreading hither and thither to carry out the foul behests of contagion."

Raimbert, in 1869, experimentally proved that the house fly and blow fly were able to transmit the anthrax bacillus.

Laveran in 1880 demonstrated the ability of the fly to carry the infectious discharge of conjunctivitis in Egypt on their proboscides and legs.

In 1886, Lizzom and Cattani obtained the cholera spirillum from flies caught in cholera wards.

In the same year Haffman found tubercle bacilli in the excreta of flies caught in a room which had previously contained a tuberculous patient.

In 1888, Cell showed that the typhoid bacillus was able to pass in a virulent condition through the digestive tract of the fly.

The latest discovery of science is that it has been demonstrated that the stable fly, Stomoxys calcitrans L., is a carrier of infantile paralysis, that dread disease, the very name of which sends a thrill of terror through the heart of a mother.

While the house fly, on account of the conformation of its mouth parts, cannot bite, the stable fly, which resembles it so closely in its anatomy, can pierce the skin. It breeds in cow manure, horse manure, and in warm and greasy vegetable matter like old straw and grass heaps. There are several species of flies which are commonly found in houses, but all the others are greatly dwarfed in numbers by Musca domestica, or the common house fly.

Prof. L. O. Howard says: "In 1900 I made collections of flies in dining-rooms in different parts of the country, and out of a total of 23,087 flies, 22,808 were Musca domestica, or about 98.5 per cent. of the whole number captured."

He suggests that this insect shall in the future be termed the "typhoid fly" in order to call direct attention to the danger of allowing it to continue to breed unchecked.

The "typhoid fly" does not breed in water as the mosquito does, but finds a congenial breeding place in decaying vegetable matter, manure, garbage, rotting waste from the kitchen, decaying hair, and even potato peelings and moist waste paper.

It is estimated that from 85 to 90 per cent. are bred in rose manure. How the necessity of having fly-proof manure pits and privy vaults, tightly closed garbage cans, and any waste, which cannot be immediately destroyed, well sewed or covered.

If the constant breeding of the fly could be prevented, by leaving the female fly no place to lay her eggs, then the fly nuisance would abate, and in proportion to our efforts to remove such danger spots will the health of our families and our citizens be safeguarded.

The average time from the laying of the eggs in the breeding place until the development of the full grown fly is about ten days. The eggs hatch in from four to five to twenty-four hours, producing the larval stage, which are commonly known as maggots or worms. This stage lasts from five to seven days, depending largely upon moisture and temperature.

At the end of this period they seem to seal themselves within their skin, forming a hard case around them, and often burying themselves in the soil. They are now known as pupae, this stage lasting about five days, during which time the remarkable transformation into a fly occurs, when they emerge from their shell in shape of an adult fly, and thus the metamorphosis is completed.

The average female lays about 120 eggs, and in a temperate climate she lays 12 or 13 batches in a season. Naturally, insects that are bred and reared in filth, have filthy habits, and thus we find the common house fly feeds on the filth of the barnyard, the outside privy vault and decaying animal and vegetable matter, yet he also relishes most all kinds of food, particularly those containing sugar or milk, and all kinds of meats. The odor of food, houses and stores, together with the warmth and protection afforded therein, attracts the fly, and he conceals in the noxious places, from which he was last feasting. The fly's feet are covered with small pads which he uses to affix himself to the corners of any unstable object, to walk on the ceiling or to promenade on the wall. Moreover, the pads are covered with a sticky substance that adheres to whatever they touch. When the fly moves he carries with him a small part of any soft substance on which he has been standing. This he deposits on the next surface he touches. Obviously, all that is necessary to make the fly a carrier of disease is that he come in contact with the germs of disease.

The fly not only carries the germs of disease on his feet, but also on his body and appendages, which are covered with hairs, and it has been found that a single fly-speck has contained 5000 tubercle bacilli when the fly fed on the sputum of a tubercular patient. It has also been demonstrated that the germ of typhoid found in a fly speck has been able to give the disease for two weeks after it was deposited. In the same way other intestinal germ diseases are carried by flies. The same is true of cholera, dysentery and infantile diarrhoea are also carried.

How does the little busy fly improve each shining minute? And where he finds an apple pie? Plants micro-millions in it.

All must see the necessity of protecting foods and food materials from flies, both in homes and in stores, or in fact wherever food is served or sold.

Flies do not travel more than 1500 feet, or roughly one quarter of a mile, from their breeding place, hence the necessity of seeing that there is no rubbish deposited within that distance of your home and left unburied. It is invariably found, where actual investigation has been made, that the percentage of cases of diseases of an enteric nature is abnormally high in the neighborhood of public refuse grounds where rubbish is allowed to accumulate.

Chloride of lime, pyroligneous acid, or kerosene, should be poured over any refuse which must for a time be exposed. These will destroy the germs of disease and the larvae of the fly in a measure, but the only safe way is to carefully cover or remove such waste so that flies cannot reach it, and either burn or bury it at the earliest possible time.

All windows and doors should be carefully screened. The expense of regular fly screens cannot be met, the wire netting may be purchased and fitted directly to the sashes, or, even less expensive still, a fair substitute may be had in the cloth mosquito netting, which with care will last a season.

Screen doors should be supplied with springs to keep them closed. It is especially important to screen from flies the dining-room, the kitchen, the pantry, the nursery and the sick room. These are the places where the flies may do their dread work in the most disastrous manner.

When, despite all precautions, flies enter the house, they must be killed, distasteful though the task may be.

The fly-bait is a very good weapon if the flies are not too numerous. Burning pyrethrum powder on the stove is effective; pyrethrum fly-catchers are fine to catch the stray flies in a room which is not frequented by them. Sheets of sticky fly-paper will capture many, but a new and successful way to kill flies is to put one teaspoonful of formalin or formaldehyde in one-quarter pint of water and expose in the room. Care should be taken to place it beyond the reach of children. These are only a few of the methods which might be suggested. The important thing is to get rid of them at any cost and as quickly as possible.

Flies hatch through the winter, and it is said to be ten days before the first batch of eggs is laid after the female fly comes out in the spring, thus by killing the early flies you will lessen the fly population considerably, for a very conservative estimate of the reproduction of one fly is 8,000,000 in the season, while the necessity of having fly-proof premises of one fly can amount to 65,000,000 in forty days. So let us get busy and "swat the fly."

SPORT NOTES

It will perhaps not be out of the way this week, in considering our local efforts in the line of sport, to say a few words about one of the very finest sports in the Dominion of Canada. We, of course, refer to the Rev. Robert Pearson. He at the present time is upmost in our minds, having just left us to take up a wide field of work at Calgary. Only a few short days ago the Rev. "Bob" was banquipped by the citizens of this city, and we know of no one more worthy than he. Lots of good things were said about him, all being true, and he will be missed by all of us for a long time to come, and Calgary will be the poorer. Red Deer citizens turned out in strong force at the banquet, but there was also a large number of working men who for various reasons could not attend. A big percentage of them being enthusiasts in various kinds of sports—men who are the better in sport, as well as in private life, for the influence he has brought to bear upon them. We know this to be true, and we want Rev. "Bob" to know this also. To those who have come in contact with him, in all branches of sport, he has ever been ready and fearless to say and do exactly what he has considered right. He always takes a stand, and he does it with a smile. He is a strong man, and strong men are needed in sport as in other matters. His genial face, willing and ready advice to all of us here, will long be remembered, and this city is better in more ways than one for the two years he has spent with us. We wish him all the success possible in his new sphere.

FOOTBALL.

TOWN VS. FIREMEN.

The Town and Firemen turned out on Wednesday night to measure their strength in a football game. The Town team, who had been badly beaten on the Monday previous, had evidently taken the lesson to heart, and had not only changed some of the players, but had evidently done a little practice and training. As we started last week, they had some good players and only needed to get themselves into condition. The fire team had also made some changes for various reasons. The game was a very hard fought one from start to finish, the Brigade winning out by one goal to nothing. It was a fine goal, beating the goalkeeper by inches only. The Town had one exceptional chance to score, but failed. The Brigade played the better combination, and so were the best team, but the Town, who played an individual game, ran them very hard.

SCHOOL VS. FIRE BRIGADE.
The School and Fire Brigade teams met in a league match Friday night last, the Fire Brigade unexpectedly winning by five goals to none. The Brigade team won by playing a better all round game. Their defence was much stronger than the School, and their passing combination was first class. The School made a mistake in leaving out A. R. Gibson, who is a strong defence player, and has the knack of instilling confidence into the younger element. The first half the School held the Brigade to one goal, but in the second half they appeared to lose heart and could not do the right thing. Their half-backs were weak, and the backs not at all sure in their kicking. The play of the Brigade team was undoubtedly of a high class, and they are just now playing the best game of their career. There is at least one man in the team who that will have to be stopped for his jumping tactics, which is not only dangerous, but against the rules. It is to be hoped the School will not take their beating too much to heart; most teams meet with such beatings at different times.

BASEBALL.

Calgary is leading the baseball league at present, but very few games have been played owing to the cold, miserable weather. Edmonton lost their first two games of the series.

in the Delivery System

Our drivers are anxious to give a good service, backing up our efforts in the store to render good service, but recently trouble has developed in connection with C. O. This rule has been in effect ever since the beginning of the Cash system, but has been imposed upon to such an extent that it has caused trouble which we wish to avoid in future and we know when our customers know what it means to us they will assist us in the maintaining of a good service.

MADE-IN-CANADA TRAIN IN RED DEER, JUNE 9.

Editor News, Red Deer, Alta.

Dear Sir—No doubt you have arranged already through the press something about the Made-in-Canada exhibition train. This traveling Canadian National Exhibition will be in Red Deer, Monday, June 9th. (Time of arrival will be announced later). It will consist of twelve cars, containing exhibits of the products of a number of representative Canadian industries, which will be arranged as attractively and compactly as possible. The whole train will be electric lighted and will be splendidly decorated throughout.

The dining car will be fitted up as a demonstration car, and in connection with the exhibition an illustrated lecture with lantern views of various features of Canada's industrial development will be given. The whole exhibition and the illustrated lecture will be free, and there is no question that the train will be one of the most novel attractions that has ever been in your city.

Representatives of the firms exhibiting will be on the train, and all will be glad to learn of the natural resources and other advantages of your city and district for manufacturing. In fact, the manufacturers of the east is depending on you, through this train, to give him an idea of what can be done along industrial lines in the prairie provinces. You will see, therefore, that the exhibition and the various features in connection with it will be thoroughly in accord with your policy of encouraging industries to locate in your district. There will be no better opportunity afforded you of acquainting the citizens of Red Deer generally with the moving industries to the community than this train.

The exhibition will be unique in the history of industrial development in Canada, and will be of great educational value to those who view it. We are anxious that it should have the largest patronage possible from the residents of your city and district, and hope that you will use every opportunity to encourage a live interest among your citizens over the coming of the Made-in-Canada special. Admission will be free. Thanking you in anticipation of your co-operation.

Yours very truly,
H. D. SCULLY, Secretary.

THAT REGATTA.

To the Editor of "The News."

Sir—I notice in the last issue of "The Times," Sylvan Lake, a "Great Advertising Scheme for Sylvan Lake," and observe that Mr. McKeown, publicity commissioner for Red Deer, has kindly offered to try and induce the railway company to run special excursion trains to the lake during the first week in June, provided the people of Sylvan Lake will furnish funds for launch races, horse races, foot races, etc. In my opinion nothing would prove more attractive to the people of Calgary and Edmonton, or draw a larger crowd to the lake than such a series of all intervening towns, than a regatta and series of athletic sports.

In the first place I may point out the lack of facilities at either of these cities for aquatic sports, and the fact that there is no more ideal spot in Alberta for holding the same than at Sylvan Lake. I look on this as a first class advertising scheme, which will not alone benefit all who have interests at Sylvan Lake, but also the city of Red Deer. To make it a success, however, and to have the desired effect, it must be carried out in no peacetime manner, and it will be necessary for the people of Red Deer to do more than try to induce the railway company to run a special excursion, leaving the people of Sylvan Lake to provide the funds. The time is too short to carry out this project successfully. In June and I would suggest that the citizens of Red Deer appoint a small committee to meet a committee of the citizens of the lake to plan a regatta and other athletic sports to be held at the lake. I should suggest, in August or September, but this is a matter of detail to be decided by the committee.

COTTINGHAM.

SUPPORT HOME INDUSTRY.

To the Editor of The News.
Dear Sir—During the past year or two there has been much discussion on the public platform, and in the press, on the subject of loyalty, and more particularly from a political standpoint, and many of different political creeds have been claiming to themselves a monopoly of loyalty.

I have, however, no intention of dealing with the subject politically, but will endeavor to narrow it down as it affects us as a community and a city.

To be loyal to our country, King, city or friend, we must stand by them, and support them to the utmost of our ability, and if necessary be prepared to make sacrifices for them, is the test of our loyalty.

In how far is this true of us as citizens of Red Deer, in our attitude toward the city and its interests and its business life? To what extent do we make the interest and welfare of our community as a whole our personal interest?

We all desire the city to grow and prosper—at least that is what we may infer from what we hear and read—and the greater the prosperity of the city, the better off will be the individual citizen.

There are thousands of dollars spent outside of Red Deer every year, that could with greater advantage be spent in it, and that would materially help to build up the city and make it more prosperous. It is almost incredible to think that persons should expect other people to trade with them, when they themselves are sending out of town goods they could otherwise obtain in it. If we all acted on this selfish principle, the city would very speedily become bankrupt. And this is being done right along by persons who, if you questioned their loyalty, would think themselves grossly insulted.

Now, sir, this phase of the question does not affect me personally (except in an indirect manner), as it does the dry goods merchants and others, so that in this matter I've no axe of my own to grind, neither am I grinding another's.

There has, however, during the past few days, arisen a case in which every citizen ought to be interested. I refer to the action of the Board of Trade, or its official, in giving an order for printing to a firm in Winnipeg. The sum involved is not large, but the principle underlying the transaction is large and serious. In the first place, the funds at the disposal of the Board are obtained from citizens, either in the form of fees or as donations, and in grant from the Council out of the public rates.

In the second place, the funds so obtained are expected to be spent in a proper and having for its one object the securing of orders and new businesses for Red Deer or, in common parlance, to boost Red Deer. The very fact of the Board having had made for them a display and overmantle and other accessories to send to Winnipeg for exhibition as an illustration of the products of the district, and what its industries are capable of doing, is sufficient proof they understand their raison d'être.

And yet, in the face of this, they are placing a pamphlet bearing the imprint of a Winnipeg firm, that will convey the impression to the minds of those into whose hands it falls, that the Board has no confidence in the ability of our local printers to supply their needs. ("It's an exceedingly poor town that is unable to do its own printing"). Those of us who remember the "Progress of Red Deer" issue some two years ago, by the News Company, will readily acknowledge it was a fine piece of work, and was a credit not only to the firm but also to the town, and it was freely stated that it was equal to anything done in Calgary or Edmonton.

Both "The Advocate" and "The News" have kept abreast the growing requirements of the city, and from time to time have added expensive machinery to their respective plants, and in this respect are doing their share in making Red Deer prosperous, and thus ought to receive at least the loyal support of the Board of Trade. It is frequently asked what is the matter with Red Deer? Well, sir, this is one of the things: Want of loyalty to one another in our business relations.

H. H. Gaetz said, some time ago, that if you want to make Red Deer grow, you must foster your small industries. The men who are doing most for Red Deer are those who are quietly and persistently bestowing their own money on necessary businesses under difficult and often discouraging conditions; but it seems from the action of the Board of Trade that small industries don't count.

Our Opportunity.
This is our opportunity, as women. What are we doing for them? It must be a matter of our gravest consideration that we are neglecting the stranger within our gates, and that the result of our neglect will be felt by our grandchildren. If our religion is so good, and if we are Christians, are such great people, are we giving the stranger the Gospel as we should? Can we be too earnest in the matter for when Christ laid down His life? Are we warning them against the evils of the day, and teaching them the principles of righteous living?

Yes, too, in so many domestic ways we can help them. By little deeds of kindness we may do much to gain their confidence, and make their lives easier, as we are faithfully helping them over the lonely transition period. There are hundreds of immigrant housewives who will know little or nothing of the mysteries of a cooking-stove, and to whom preparing of foods suitable to the needs of the climate and high prices of provisions, is a hopeless problem. The essential of fruits and vegetables are an unknown art. At first their ways will not be our ways, their ideas of life and ours must be as far apart as the poles; they will have linguistic and racial peculiarities, and in many instances their standard of morals will be lower than ours. But to the immigrant housewife, the friendly visit of a Canadian neighbor, careful enough to teach the household methods of Canada without seeming to do so, may prove to be the little thing that makes the new land less lonely, and the newcomer less forgotten—the result of which may reach through the centuries to the highest spiritual, and through time to eternity. Someone has said: "To have faith is to create; to have hope is to call down blessing; to have love is to work miracles." So comrades: "Measure thy life by loss instead of gain; Not by the good received, but by the good poured forth; For love's strength standeth: standeth in love's sacrifice. And whoso loveth most, loveth most to give." U. E. G.

IMMIGRATION.

To the newcomers from many lands Canada owes much of her prosperity, and, as a matter of intelligent self-interest, as well as Christian courtesy, Canadians should treat all immigrants with consideration and kindness.

When the Immigration Department closes its books for the year on March 31st, Canada will have received something like 400,000 immigrants during the twelve months—a greater proportionate number than any land has ever received in like time.

This means that every moment of our waking hours an immigrant comes to our shores. Now 110 different languages are spoken in Canada. But a more startling thing is that the 400,000 have been absorbed almost without effort, and comparatively as a drop in a bucket in our vast western lands: the filling up of the last Great West is one of the great events of our time.

The thought of this article was suggested by reading what one English nobleman was doing for the immigrants to Canada. Training Farmers in England for Canada.

It may not be generally known that the Hon. Rupert Guinness, M.P. of England, has launched out as a Canadian farmer. So struck was he by the possibilities, not only of the boundless West, but also of the East, along the lines of scientific farming, that he has purchased himself a Nova Scotia three or four farms. He says: "Oh, Nova Scotia is so near Liverpool, I can run over every day."

But the remarkable part is his great enthusiasm about the opportunities which await the public school man in Canada, who, after a course of study in a training college, emigrates from the old country into agricultural life over the seas. For over eighteen months Mr. Guinness has conducted in his spare time, from parliamentary duties—a training farm for this class of emigrant on the estate of his father-in-law, the Earl of Onslow. Fifty men have already been trained on this farm, and have learned modern Canadian methods, and when a Lady Guinness came to Canada last Autumn it was with the object of visiting some of her husband's former pupils. Many are the stories of their successes, and nearly all are on the road to fortune. Among them, clergymen, doctors, lawyers, and a mayor, all living happily, happy lives with every need supplied.

Mr. Guinness thinks science must abolish the old hedge and ditch type, that class with the dull plodding of an ox, never growing poorer and never growing richer. Agriculture calls for active brains, and scientific knowledge, as well as strong hands. He also says that young men of good social standing, don overalls and get overworked while learning to become great engineers, and he asks: "Is it more undignified to milk a cow or harness a horse?"

Our Opportunity.

The programme will be varied and comprise pipe-organ solos by Mr. Oaten as well as solos and selections by the choir. Tickets will not be sold, but a general admission of 25 cents will be charged to defray certain expenses. This concert will be well worth more than double the price of admission, and it is hoped the citizens of Red Deer will show their appreciation of good music by being present. This choir will compete at the musical festival in Edmonton the following night. The Organmen are holding a social and entertainment at their next regular meeting, Friday, 16th, and all members are requested to make a special effort to attend.

Yesterday the City Council met in response to a telegram from E. Michener, at Ottawa, to Commissioner A. T. Stephenson, and selected the south-east corner of the city square as the site for an army. License Commissioners Meet

The Provincial License Commissioners met at Red Deer on Wednesday last to consider applications for renewals of licenses for district '2 and 3.

There were only a few complaints. One was against the old portion of the Alberta Hotel for being unsanitary and out of date, by the Council and Board of Trade, the case being postponed to June 18, but it is hoped the Provincial License Board will take the question up with the Alberta people before that date. W. Laybourne was given time to dispose of his hotel business at Penhold. A wholesale license was refused for Coronation.

Publicity Commissioner Resigns

At the last meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade, Publicity Commissioner A. H. McKewen tendered his resignation, the same to take effect the first of June. Owing to the stringency of the money market, it is pretty well understood that there will not be as much funds as usual to expend in publicity work, and the Commissioner felt that under the circumstances the best thing he could do would be to resign. While in charge of the Board of Trade work, Mr. McKewen has been a faithful official, and his removal from Red Deer will be regretted. He has only just completed a four-page publicity paper on Red Deer and her resources, a copy of which may be received by any citizen at the Board of Trade office. The paper is a most creditable production and should be read by every citizen.

LAURENCE FORTESCUE, Comptroller. Ottawa, April 28, 1913. 40957.

ONE or two generations ago most farm animals roamed at large, but we have gradually found that this did not pay.

The barn yard fowls have been the last to feel the effects of business methods on the farm, but at last they have to get in their place (in the poultry yard) and stay there.

The farmer who reads the magazines knows that to-day many a chicken farm of a few acres pays bigger profits than large farm did a few years ago. Every farmer keeps chickens because it pays, and it will pay lots better, and the farm will look better, if they are kept in the poultry yard.

ENOUGH of our poultry fencing to keep your fowls properly will cost very little, and will be the best investment you ever made on the farm.
